Wichita, Kan.— In anticipation of a Tuesday hearing on HB 2906 (school vouchers for at-risk children), the Flint Hills Center for Public Policy is holding a press conference to release a school voucher proposal. This proposal demonstrates how vouchers require no additional tax revenue, gives freedom of choice to parents and highlights successful programs in other states.

National education expert and author of the study, Dan Lips, will speak. Several children involved in a Wichita private voucher program will speak. Food and drink will be provided.
